I’m not talking about the typical innovation of most companies— you know the drill, change this or that ingredient, add this in, and voila, the latest “revolutionary product” has been created.

Trials on humans to treat incurable viruses such as HIV or currently untreatable genetic disorders such as albinism.

He has an effect on society because society truly loves him.