this is done to protect recycling and trash collection workers, as well as family members of sharps users.

the longer you wait, the more you risk serious consequences, including death.