part of the 6 million marked for the project instead went to the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture at 135th St.

most women have tried it at some point, resulting in one of two feelings: pain or pleasure we have achieved our goals and look forward to a successful year in 2013 this is what we want, to get the guns out of the hands of the mentally unstable.

the judges took it away from me, you don't have to knock down the other guy to win the fight
